Management's Discussion of Fund Performance

SUMMARY OF RESULTS

Blue Chip Growth Fund (Class A/JBGAX) returned 34.51% (excluding sales charges) for the year ended August 31, 2024. Large-cap U.S. equities registered strong gains in the annual period, reflecting the favorable backdrop of positive economic growth, stable corporate earnings, and expectations for an accommodative policy shift by the U.S. Federal Reserve. Technology-related stocks performed particularly well due to excitement surrounding AI and investors' broader preference for faster-growing companies.

TOP PERFORMANCE CONTRIBUTORS

Information technology | The fund's holdings in the sector made the largest contribution to absolute returns. NVIDIA Corp., which is seen as being uniquely positioned to benefit from the growth of AI, was the leading performer. Holdings in Microsoft Corp. and Apple, Inc. further helped the fund capitalize on the rally in mega-cap technology stocks.

Communication services and consumer discretionary | The fund produced robust returns in both areas due to its positions in Meta Platforms, Inc., Alphabet, Inc., and Amazon.com, Inc.

Health care | This sector was another area of strength thanks to a position in Eli Lilly & Company, which rose on optimism about the total available market for its weight loss drugs.

TOP PERFORMANCE DETRACTORS

Energy | The fund's one holding in the sector—Schlumberger NV—lost ground on concerns that major oil producers would continue to emphasize shareholder returns over capital investment.

Weakness in specific holdings | Outside of energy, key detractors included Tesla, Inc., BILL Holdings, Inc., and Dollar General Corp.

Performance figures assume all distributions have been reinvested and reflect the beneficial effect of any expense reductions. Figures reflect maximum sales charge on Class A shares of 5.00%. Past performance does not guarantee future results. The return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Due to market volatility and other factors, the fund's current performance may be higher or lower than the performance shown and can be found at jhinvestments.com/investments or by calling 800-225-5291.
